

2016 CLASSIC DRY RED

The Wine Front
Campbell Mattinson
Classically Drinkable Red

Classic Dry Red. Margaret River. In smaller print, on the front label, comes the word: Shiraz. It may well be shiraz but it's a relatively herbal version. It's not unripe or hard; it's fleshy with berries and peppers and cloves, a smoky talk-like character obvious throughout. It's not deep or profound but more importantly, it's not simple. It keeps you both guessing and interested, but in accessible way. It could be called a Classically Drinkable Red. (2014)

James Halliday Wine Companion
James Halliday
92 points

Silver - with Special Value

Ray Jordan's Top 100 Reds
Ray Jordan
91 points

The quintessential Classic Dry Red. Hard to fault as a wine at this price. Classy stuff. (2013)
